OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

THOSE OF US WHO CAN be classified more or less as professional city hall observers have been watching with interest the intramural squabble in the official city family that is taking place in Morgan Hill, a few miles down the pike from us.

Morgan Hill, which was incorporated 'way back in 1906, has retained a population of around 4000 for quite a spell but has been considered by the experts to be on the brink of something or other for some time, although nothing so far has really materialized.

How the town should develop, if and when things break, of course, is of prime concern to the City Council of that city as well as the Planning Commission.

Quite naturally there is a difference of opinion or philosophy among the civic leaders as to the future community development.

Now, "difference in philosophy" is a sort of generalized term used quite often when members of official bodies disagree with one another and they want to keep the internal friction on a polite level.

Of course, it really means that the other side is all wet and they don't know what they are talking about.

But "difference in philosophy" sounds less brutal.

Naturally over the years there has been much "difference-in-philosophy" in Campbell among the civic leaders and, although at times the "difference" has been more emphasized than the "philosophy", no wide breaches have resulted that could not be bridged when both sides put their respective minds to the task.

But apparently that is not the case in Morgan Hill.

IN THAT LITTLE TOWN the "difference in philosophy" between some members of the Planning Commission and the City Council resulted in a drastic move.

By City Council action, the terms of two of the planning commissioners who had different philosophies than the councilmen were simply terminated.

The two commissioners were given notice of the termination after the City Council had charged that the work of the commission had been seriously hampered because the philosophies of community development of the two men differed so widely from the established policy of the council.

The councilmen, of course, maintained that the differences were not personal but centered around their failure to follow the provisions of the city's general plan in making decisions.

THE MORGAN HILL case is unique as far as we are concerned, for in all our years of "covering" city halls', we have never heard of a city council taking such an action.

That is not to say that there have not been instances when some of the councilmen might have felt like it.

Incidentally, it is all legal, according to the Morgan Hill city attorney, although the two ousted commissioners are now demanding a public hearing.

The commissioners were appointed by the council and thus it follows they can be dismissed in the same manner, even if their terms of office had not expired.

We imagine that Morgan Hill now really has a built-in issue for the next council race.

We thought that Mayor Homer Hyde made the most telling description of the case.

He called the Morgan Hill situation "the case of the DIS-Appointed Commissioners".

We let that pass.

But we are wondering

North loop objectors to attend hearing Monday

Residents objecting to the proposed north loop street of vital importance to the future civic center complex, are expected to attend, in force, the Planning Commission meeting next Monday night (Sept. 15) when the first public hearing is held on the plan line for the new street.

A petition protesting the plan line is also expected to be filed before the hearing is called.

The plan line was "unofficially" unveiled two weeks ago by the city's public works department. Since the unveiling, many residents in the affected area have voiced their objections to it and have indicated they will fight its adoption on both the Planning Commission and City Council level.

The proposed route for the north loop was developed after more than two years of study and research. The concept for the loop system has been approved by City Council, Planning Commission, Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Revitalization Committee and is part of the "master plan" developed under the federally subsidized 701 program.

But those who are now objecting to the north loop claim that until the plan line was officially presented, there was nothing to get their teeth into.

The proposed plan line for the 50-foot wide street takes off from Campbell Ave. at Third St., (between the BofA and Blendwell) and runs on a straight line about 295-feet from the center line of Campbell Ave. to Harrison. There it cuts back to Campbell Ave. across the tracks at the Salciccia's Service Station.

There are about seven structures that lie in the pathway of the loop that must be acquired and a number of other residents feel that, although not directly on the loop, their properties would be affected.

No buildings are in the loop's pathway between First and Central, as the City has acquired and cleared all the parcels in that area for the new city hall.

The new city hall will be located north of the proposed

PUC grants water company rate increase

The Campbell Water Company, serving approximately 4330 customers in and near the City of Campbell, has been granted authority by the California Public Utilities Commission to raise its rates by about $7,300 a year to offset an increased pump tax and water purchase cost.

The new rates are effective on or after Sept. 23.

Quanity rates will be raised by 6/10ths of 1 cent per 100 cubic feet of water. No change in the present service or standby charge was requested or authorized.

County votes on bonds Tuesday

Voters in Santa Clara County will go to the polls next Tuesday, Sept. 16, to cast ballots on three bond measures that will have a direct bearing on their future.

Measure A provides the necessary authorization to establish a county-wide transit district and to set up a countywide bus system to be financed by a special ½-cent sales tax.

Measure B encompasses a variety of projects relating to essential public services, such as the juvenile, medical and judicial departments to be financed by $41 million in bonds.

Measure C provides for 18 regional parks to be financed by a $15 million bond issue.

Schools open

Schools in the area, public and parochial, from grade school through the junior college today (Wednesday) began the fall term with the usual rush and bustle as thousands of students ended their summer vacation.

The Campbell elementary district was prepared to handle 11,200 students, a slight increase over last year and the nine high schools in the Campbell Union High School District expected a 14,000 enrollment.

St. Lucy's Catholic School planned on 366 and the Seventh Day Adventist School opened Monday with 160.

Moreland elementary was expecting 9500 in the 16 schools in that district.

More than 6000 were expected at the two campuses of West Valley College.

Police officers throughout the area cautioned both students and non-students to be traffic-watchers with special emphasis for bike riders who clog the roads to and from school.

Business firms get awards at luncheon on Sept. 25

Final judging on the 1969 Business Beautification Contest took place Wednesday, Sept. 10, with the results to be announced at the Sept. 25 luncheon meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

Being judged in the final contest were 15 medium-sized businesses, 15 small businesses and 10 large. Appearance of the premises as viewed by passers-by, appearance and upkeep of the shrubbery, planting, signs in agreement with the building code and efforts to control littering are scored high by the judges.

The top three in each category will be awarded certificates, while Campbell "Clean Guy" decals will be presented to the businesses who have really made an effort to clean up their establishments and keep them that way.

Finalist judges in the contest on which over 15,000 man-hours have already been spent are William W. Hedley, Jr., architect; Thomas Snowden, of Snowden-Pencer Corporation, who last year won the large business certificate (he will not be judging his own business category); Richard Dunmire, of Sunset Magazine; Mrs. Eleanor Vennum, head of the Floriculture department of the Santa Clara County Fair and a member of the Garden Club State Board; Mrs. Dar Hollen, KNTV Channel 11; and George Kukuchi, Cambrian Nursery landscape architect.

At the CofC meeting the feature speaker will be John Fisher-Smith, architect associated with Skidmore, Owings & Merrill of San Francisco. He is well-known for his interest urban design and development and author of several papers on beautification.

He was the keynote speaker at the Beautification convention held in Washington, D.C. last year. Fisher-Smith will be introduced by Mrs. Jeanette Watson, chairman of Campbell Citizens for Beautification committee.

Presenting the awards will be Mrs. Jean Kennedy. The luncheon will be held at the Villa Felice, with reservations to be made at the Chamber of Commerce office, 378-6252. Reservations must be made by Sept. 22.

Over 180 attended the beautification luncheon last year and a good turnout is expected this year.

DISAPPROVED---Acting upon the recommendation of Art Kee, planning director, the Planning Commission last week ruled that the above sign "Mr. Fantasy" for the firm at 381 E. Campbell Ave., did not meet the city standards and therefore must be removed or modified.

The matter was referred to the Planning Commission on the suggestion of Gerald Scott, of the planning staff, as a means to establish a guideline for signs that combine art form with basic sign identification.

The planning staff also indicated that the sign was not architecturally compatible for the building or the surrounding area, and does not adequately identify the occupants of the premises or services offered as defined in the city sign ordinance. Michael Bebek, applicant for the sign, has been notified of the Planning Commission's action.

Apartment complex on W. Latimer gets Planning Commission nod

Plans for a 156-unit apartment complex on a 7.2 acre parcel at 540 W. Latimer at the San Tomas Expressway received approval of the Planning Commission last week after the commissioners apparently were satisfied that the plans met city's "density" requirements.

The plans, submitted by Pacific States Construction Co., call for eight less units than had been in the original application.

In approving the plans, the Commission specified that builders must also come back for approval of the landscape plans for the east side of the property that is adjacent to a single-family residential area.

The Commission continued until Oct. 6 action on the application of Anthony C. Morici, developer of the Gomes Ranch, for the commercial complex and service station portion of the major development. Approval has already been given for the 740-unit apartment complex on the parcel.

Plans for a 9,270 square-foot industrial shop building at 499 Salmar Ave. were approved by the Commission. The plans were submitted by S. Ziegler and E. Hoffman.

The Commission continued to Sept. 15 the application of Kurt Gross, San Jose city councilman, for approval of plans for a commercial building at 402 E. Hamilton. Involved is whether adequate parking has been allowed.

The Commission approved the plans for an automatic car wash with five gas pumps at 2955 Winchester Blvd. at Sunnyoaks. The plans were submitted by Ralph Beauchamp. The use permit for the project becomes invalid, however, unless a building permit is taken out before Oct. 7, 1969.

Leo Freschi was granted a use permit for expansion of the mobile home park planned along Los Gatos Creek with access to Camden Ave. Approval was also granted of the parcel map for Pegasus Properties (Fred Chez, et al.) at 1871 and 1961 Pollard Rd. and extension of six months was granted Meribah Co. for the development of the 176-unit apartment complex on the west side of San Tomas Expressway north of Hamilton.

Council changes zoning for White Oaks annex

In a confusing and involved series of actions Monday night, the City Council approved the annexation of property on Shelley Ave. and Bascom extending to White Oaks Road. (White Oaks 1969-2).

But before approving the annexation, the Council changed the pre-zoning on one portion (Bozo Dubcich property) fronting on Bascom from that which had been recommended by the Planning Commission.

As a result of the Council's action, the two Dubcich lots will come into the city zoned C-2-S (commercial) as desired by the property owners.

But before the commercial zoning had been approved, the Council had to "redo" a previous action taken a few minutes before which had followed the Planning Commission's recommendation of R-3-S (apartments).

What tended to confuse matters from the beginning was that the R-3-S zone that had been recommended by the Planning Commission was not really the zoning the planners wanted!

They felt that P-O (professional office) would be better. But P-O had not been advertised and in the interest of expediency to avoid re-advertising so it could go to the City Council immediately, the Commission left it at R-3-S with the understanding that the City would initiate the other type of zoning at a later date.

When representatives of the Dubcich family who were present at the City Council meeting questioned the Council's action and emphasized that they might not agree to the annexation without the commercial zoning, the Council undid the previous action and put C-2-S on the two lots.

And then proceeded with the annexation action.

The first action of the evening involving the area was the adoption of the Cambrian-Parr-and White Oaks Neighborhood Use Plan which also had the prior approval of the Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission had approved the plan after both the city and county planning staffs had presented suggestions for the area. The basic difference between the county and city's plans was that the city advocates a cul-de-sac on White Oaks. The county study also encompassed a much larger area.

After completing the White Oaks "series", the Council

Are youths interested?

Young people interested in serving on the newly-formed Youth Advisory Commission for the City of Campbell are asked to contact Carl F. Kuhn, assistant to the city manager, either by phone (378-8141) or by letter.

The city is anxious to obtain a response from those young people (between 16 and 21) who would be interested in serving on the nine-member commission.

Commissioners must reside within the city limits.

When a sufficient number of applications are received, a screening committee, composed of Councilman Ralph Doetsch, Rusty Hammer, acting chairman of the youth group and another youth representative, will interview the applicants and recommend to the City Council those to be appointed to the first commission.

The commission, established by the Council by resolution, will advise the City Council on civic matters of interest to the young people.

Campbell residents get free trash pickup this Friday

REAL SWINGERS---Mark Milioto and Dennis Hodges, who reside on Alamarida, place a garbage can on the curb on their street in preparation for the free pickup service this Friday offered to residents of the City of Campbell by Green Valley Disposal.

Residents within the city limits of Campbell will have an opportunity this Friday, Sept. 12, to get rid of debris, brush and trash accumulated during the summer months through a free pickup service that is offered twice-a-year.

As a condition of the franchise agreement with the City of Campbell, Green Valley Disposal Co. will haul away rubbish and discarded materials placed on the curbs in front of the residences by the householders

The trash must be placed on the curb by 7 a.m. this Friday, Sept. 12, and will be picked up some time during the day.

Only those who reside within the city limits are offered this service.

It is also specified that for those properties having access to alleys and which are the regular pickup locations, debris should be left in the regular location.

According to the "ground rules" for the operation, all debris must be placed in boxes or metal containers that are light enough for one man to carry.

Trimmings must be bundled in four-foot lengths.

No items such as furniture, appliances, boxes of dirt or rocks will be picked up.

Green Valley Disposal, with the cooperation of the Fire Department, also offers the same service in the spring.

Fire Department officials emphasize that the elimination of rubbish and debris assists materially in reducing fire hazards that exist in the city.

GETTING READY---Judy Neal (8), of 1067 Almarida, drags a garbage can to the curb for the free pickup service offered this Friday by Green Valley Disposal to the residents of tne city.

Yes on county bonds

On Sept. 16, the voters of the county will be asked to approve three measures (A, B and C.)

The Campbell Press recommends a vote of approval on all three measures.

The measures deal with a countywide transit district (A); $41 million on general obligation bonds for construction of county public facilities (B); and the development of 18 county parks (C).

Each of these three measures, A, B and C, respectively, use different methods to retire the bonds, or, as in the case of Measure A, of funding the project.

In last week's editorial, we discussed Measure C which concerns a $15.3 million issue for 18 county parks and the week before Measure B.

Measure C bonds are to be retired through a special property tax not to exceed five cents per $100 assessed valuation. It is estimated that the tax will not exceed 4½ cents at the peak years of 1975-76.

Measure B, the $41 million in general obligation bonds, aims at expanding and constructing county facilities, including Valley Medical Center, court houses, jails, rehabiliation centers for youths and adults, animal shelters, emergency communication centers, general office space and parking facilities.

The bonds for Measure B will be repaid through a combination of existing sales tax, rental fees from Santa Clara County Medical Research Institute and hospital-laboratory fees, revenues.

Both Measure B and C require a two-thirds majority to pass. Measure A requires only a simple majority.

In the last two issues of The Press, we have attempted to explain the ramifications involved in Measures C and B.

In this issue, Measure A, the countywide transit district thing is reviewed.

There seems to be little or no opposition to Measure A on the subject of "whether or not Santa Clara County needs a public system".

Almost everyone admits that there is a need for mass transit. It is obvious: more people, more cars, more time to get anywhere; more traffic jams and basically just more of everything.

And, even if adequate freeway systems were available not everyone has private transporation .

According to recent survey, one-third of all persons in the county of mobility age (10 years old and up) do not drive cars. Approximately 21% of the population over 16 does not drive.

Almost 20,000 households do not have an automobile and more than 125,000 households are one-car families.

Population figures in Santa Clara County will increase, not decrease over the next 20 years. By 1980, officials project the county population will hit 1½ million with the county assessed valuation at $4 billion.

This all leads to an obvious conclusion.

Undoubtedly a need now exists for a countywide transit system and the need is going to become more acute in the immediate future.

Ultimately it is also assumed that a rapid transit system will be required.

There is a definite need, in our opinion, to determine the whats and wheres of the system...The when has already arrived.

Measure A, specifically, will create the Santa Clara County Transit District (SCCTD), authorize a ½-cent hike in county sales tax to finance an immediate tran hike in county sales tax to finance an immediate transportation system and commit the district to future rapid transit.

It is estimated that the ½-cent increase will bring in $10-$11 million in 1970 alone, increasing in revenue as the county grows.

The district, if approved, would be governed by the board of supervisors as a board of directors, with an advisory committee to recommend plans and actions. The advisory committee would consist of one representative from each of the elected city councils in the council, plus five persons appointed by the elected supervisors.

We think it should be made emphatically clear at this time that currently there are NO specific plans for a rapid transit system, neither a Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART)-like facility with monorails, etc., nor anything else.

In other words there really is no commitment now or on the drafting board or any place else as what a transit system would consist of in this county or where it will go.

However, tentative plans call for the SCCTD, if approved, to acquire a fleet of buses, gained through buying out existing routes (Peerless, San Jose City Lines and Palo Alto-owned buses) and putting the countywide system into effect, hopefully by 1970.

A study of future rapid transit, not necessarily similar to BART, will be undertaken by 1970, if the district is approved.

In considering the bus line approach, one of the methods up to bat has been the possibility of steam bus concept and there are other ideas that should be explored along the same lines. But, in addition to buses, rapid transit must also be considered.

There are those who will contend that we should not concern ourselves with this transportation problem but concentrate on our own local situation.

But it won't be that easy.

This community will be involved in the big picture, whether we like it or not.

To summarize, although we have no idea what transportation plan should be or what will be in effect some day, approval of Measure A on Sept. 16 will provide enabling legislation to take effect and create the transit district, authorize a ½-cent hike in countywide sales tax and commit the district to future rapid transit.

Admittedly we are inclined to agree with many of you, that there are too many people and too many cars now, so let's cut it off.

But you know and we know that cannot be done.

So we feel that this is the way we must go.

That is why we urge a YES vote next Tuesday, Sept. 16 on all three county measures.

A FEW ISSUES BACK WE mentioned in this column that The Press undoubtedly had recently received the smallest check on record.

A check for one cent was sent to the newspaper in order to clear up a long-standing account.

We claimed that our low-check record could be tied but never beaten.

After the column appeared, Carl Swanson of 314 Nestor Ave, came into the office with a check for a similar amount (one cent) written by the Treasurer of the United States back in 1943 to balance out his bond allotment account.

Swanson has never cashed it in all the ensuing 26 years.

Maybe we ought to form a one-cent club.

Regardless of the fact that it was a highly expensive maneuver on the part of the Treasurer of the United States to draw a check for such a substantial amount, we thought it was quite refreshing.

Y'see these one-cent jobs are more in our field than checks for the millions and billions of bucks that have become so commonplace in governmental circles.

WE JUST KNOW WE MAY kick ourselves all over the lot 10 years hence but somehow we can't get excited or enthusiastic over the many "golden opportunities" we have been ignoring recently in real estate developments.

We know we are not alone in this, because many of our friends and neighbors have reported that they, too, have been invited to take part in the many developments.....

And the invitations are so personal...even including flying the family to the beautiful recreational areas that are in the throes of becoming the greatest in the west.

Probably one should feel honored, we know, to be "selected" as a potential customer...except when one realizes that "selection" is oftentimes made from the phone book.

Take this week, for example, "Mr. and Mrs. Press Campbell" of 35 Dillon Ave., were invited to hunt club breakfast, a round trip electra jet flight to Lake Tahoe and and al fresco luncheon (whatever that means).

In addition, while on the flight, the movie, "The Great Escape," would be shown and there would, of course,. be a guided motor tour of the area in which we were being asked to invest.

As we said, we probably are passing up an opportunity of a lifetime. But somehow this "personal" approach doesn't really grab us.

And, as we have told you before, we can't answer for "Mr. and Mrs. Press Campbell" anyway....

We don't know 'em that well.

SHADES OF ENGLAND... At a recent City Council meeting, Jose Stell who has covered Campbell for many years as a reporter for the San Jose Mercury, suggested facetiously that it would be "nice" if attorneys in this country followed the English custom of wearing robes and wigs.

Jose made his suggestion at a City Council meeting on a hot evening when following Mayor Hyde's suggestion all the councilmen had shed their coats.

But City Attorney Joe Bonacina, to whom Jose had directed his remarks about wigs and robes, rose "in court" to say that he would keep his coat on as sort of a compromise, we assume, with the dignified English legal custom, the basic foundation of our own legal code.

Of course, it night have been because Joe's shirt wasn't in good enough condition to be exposed. But we didn't go into that.

To get the judicial robes might have been a problem.

But there were a couple of wigs around.

But maybe we had better quit while we are ahead.

Or are we?

DIMINISHING OPEN space has become an acute problem for cities in this area.

Fortunately, the citizens of Campbell have protected our community to some extent by approving the bond issue that allowed for the acquisition of eight over for the expansion of Rincon Park.

One of the prime movers in emphasizing the importance of the need for this park expansion, as you all know has been Don Hebard, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

We think it is to Don's everlasting credit, however, that he has not advocated the formation of huge lakes and lagoons in the Campbell parks on which El Toro enthusiasts could sail to their heart's content.

This is by the way of telling you, in case you didn't know, that Don Hebard is one of the outstanding El Toro sailors in the area. The El Toro is the one-man sail boat, in case you didn't know.

It is also important to know that Don won the "Mile-High Derby" recently in the El Toro competition against 45 other boats at Pinecrest beating the North American champion., not a bad qualification for a Parks and Recreation chairman.

Unfortunately, Don reports that he did not fare so well in the subsequent competition at Eureka. The wind was against him.

We didn't know that Don ever needed wind.

ran into a few roadblocks with the rest of the agenda.

Three ordinances (prezoning of a McGlincey annexation, a zone change on E. Hacienda and a zone change on S. San Tomas Road) were adopted.

Approval was given the parcel map for Pegasus Properties (Fred Chez), 1871 and 1961 Pollard Road and Oct. 14 was set for the hearing on the McGlincey 1969-6 annexation.

Near the end of the meeting, Lowell Grattan asked the City Council to review the present underground utilities ordinance. Grattan thought a number of modifications should be made in it.

No action was taken on the report submitted by the West Valley Senior Action Committee with respect to the establishment of a mini-bus system to serve the senior citizens. The Council had received a two-page letter from Mrs. Irma Reese, director, and Mrs. Clara Gregg, chairman of the transportation committee, emphasizing the need for some transportation system. The Senior Action Committee is seeking Council support in their request for a grant from the Self Help Foundation.

The letter explained that the senior center in Menlo Park have had a mini-bus system in operation for several months.

CONSTITUTION SIGNING--- In observance of the anniversary of the Sept. 17 signing of the constitution of the United States of America, Homer H. With Hyde, were Mrs. Frances M. Lake, Worthy Matron of Eastern Star, Campbell Chapter No. 553; Ray S. Gilpatrick, Grand Worden, Independent Order Odd Fellows and Jerry V. McDaniel, Worshipful Master of Masonic Charity Lodge No. 362.

CUB PACK FOLDS

Dear Mr. Vierhus:

We who have worked so hard to keep this Cub Pack going for two years under the very worst duress, no parental interest, ask you if you could use this letter to the head of the Boy's Scouts or parts of it to bring home to the parents that it is because of their non-interest that this pack has to fold their tents and steal away leaving many would be scouts without any pack.

Respectively yours,
Verla Feuerstein,
Secretary of Pack 309.

Dear Mr. Dumbolton:

Cub Pack 309 has been dissolved as of Sept. 4, 1969, as a result of lack of Parental interest and cooperation in keeping the oldest Cub Pack in Santa Clara County alive.

We have pleaded for almost two years for some person to take over the Cub Master position. The four mainstays, who have served their time for the past two years cannot carry this load any longer by themselves.

People who bring their young sons to the Pack Meeting, turn around and leave during the Interm of the Pack Meeting to run errands or do shopping must think that Cubbing is an inexpensive baby sitting service.

Please advise us as to the disposition of remaining funds and equipment.

Respectively yours,
The Mainstays of Pack 309.

Only one building is in the way of the loop between Central and Harrison, other than the seven parcels that are needed for the new library.

City officials maintain that it is necessary to establish the plan line for the north loop before they can actually "firm up" the final plans for the civic center complex.

The north loop is necessary, they claim, for the traffic flow pattern that must be developed for the civic center area.

Couple exchange vows

MRS. ROGER ALAN SMITH

Roger Alan Smith claimed Laurel Alison Beckett as his bride in an afternoon ceremony at the First Congregational Church of San Jose on August 23. Dr. John J. Foster officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding, Laurel designed and made her gown of silk and wool alaskine with princess lines and a short train. The yoke and sleeves were of venise lace in a daisy design. She carried a bouquet of daisy mums and baby's breath and wore daisy mums in her hair.

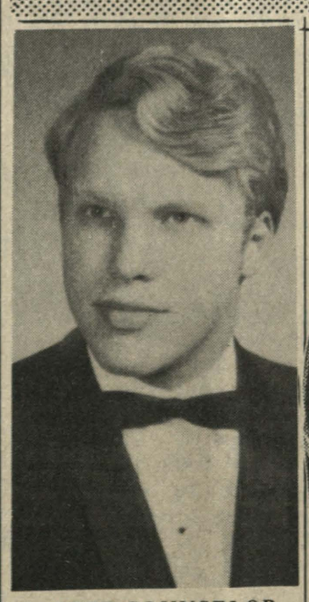
Bonnie A. Beckett attended her sister as maid of honor, and Anne Louise Smith, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Each attendant made her own dress of peacock blue dacron, and carried bouquets of daisy mums with accents of blue baby's breath.

Roger chose his brother, Eric Nelson Smith, of Ithaca, New York, to serve as his best man, and Dr. Michael Sinnott of Bristol, England, ushered. Following the ceremony, the new Mr. and Mrs. Smith greeted their guests at a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Beckett of Campbell.

Laurel was an honor graduate of Del Mar High School and graduated cum laude from Pomona College in Claremont, California where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. The recipient of a National Institutes of Health Traineeship, she has completed her Master's Degree and is working toward a Ph.D. in statistics at Stanford University.

Roger, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Smith of Claremont and Mt. Baldy, California, graduated from Claremont High School and magna cum laude from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, where he was a Senior Scholar doing independent study in Physics. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, an associate member of Sigma Xi, and is seeking his Ph.D. in physics at Stanford University on a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Following a wedding trip to northern California, the newly-weds will make their home in Menlo Park, California, while they continue their studies at Stanford.



MASTER COUNSELOR--Tom Jeffery will be installed as Master Counselor of the Los Gatos DeMolay chapter on Saturday, Sept. 13. Tom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Jeffery and has been active in DeMolay work for four years.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

When the California State Senate recently passed a bill banning internal combustion engines within the next five years, everyone knew it was only a gesture. But the real motivation behind the move was extremely serious.

To anyone who remembers our state as it used to be, today's landscape more closely resembles a spaghetti casserole of freeways than sunny California. In addition our waterways and our air are becoming lethal, toxic and unsightly.

Since the transportation crises and our failure to meet it is a major contributing factor to this state of affairs, it is obvious that drastic action is required.

Automobiles, despite their economic importance, must be curtailed and replaced with smog-free, underground rapid transit. Another alternative to surface transportation, our airways, must be made safer.

There has been a very marked shift of commercial passenger traffic from surface to air carriers during the 1960's. In 1968 airlines carried 69% of the common carrier traffic, whereas the rail-highway-water carrier share was only 32%. Domestic airline traffic will triple by 1980 to reach 420 million paid passenger enplanements. General (private) aviation is currently airborne some 24 million hours each year, but by 1980 this will reach 63.6 million flight hours. The general aviation fleet totaling some 120,000 aircraft this year will, according to the Federal Aviation Administration, reach 214,000 by 1980.

To avoid mass carnage when commerical aircraft start carrying 700 to 800 human bodies, we will need massive expenditure for new airports, terminals, navigational aids, and other requirements. The question is, how will be pay for it?

It has long been established government policy that the direct beneficiary of federally provided transportation facilities should pay for whatever their use of those facilities costs. In 1949 the Brookings Institution said, "If air transportation is to develop on a sound basis, it must ultimately be able to pay its way. This means avoiding the difficulties which are bound to arise if the maintenance and improvement of essential facilities are to be dependent upon general fund appropriations reflecting political factors...".

Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon have all reiterated this view. Personally, I favor an aviation trust fund like that used to build highways. Taxes on air-line tickets, jet and aviation fuel, aircraft parts, airport revenues, etc., should be exclusively devoted to developing air transport facilities.

Congress seems inclined toward such a system but must first resolve a tug of war between private and commercial interests over how large a share of the cost each should bear.

In this modern computer age an honest allocation of costs to each category of aviation should not be difficult. Then, Congress should impose the tax on each category which recovers those costs. This theory has worked for highways and there is no reason why it cannot work in the air.

Campbell church to hold revival

"A New Slant on Living" is the theme of a two-week revival and evangelistic series to be presented at the Campbell Seventh-day Adventist church beginning Sunday night, Sept. 14, according to Eugene Sample, pastor of the local congregation.

Evangelist Philip Knoche, who will be presenting the series, is a veteran of more than fifty such campaigns throughout the Western States and Hawaii. His son Keith is a senior student of theology at Pacific Union College near St. Helena.

Though Keith has assisted his father in many ways in the past, this is the first time they have joined as a father-son team for a series of public meetings. Keith will be leading in the musical program each night and will be preaching on youth night, Friday, Sept. 19.

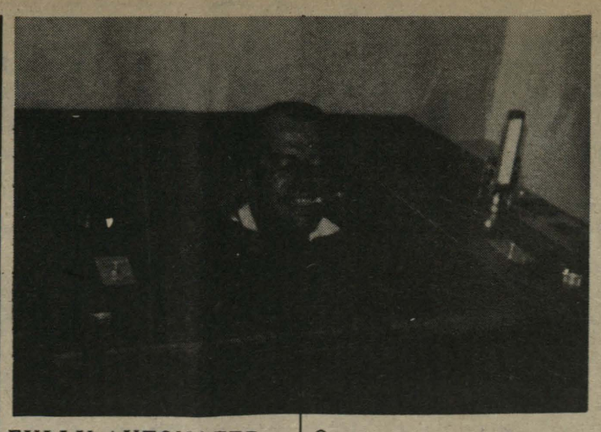
The subject for opening night is "A Nation in Peril; what is our future?" Other subjects this coming week are: Monday, "God of the Atom"; Tuesday, "Religion in Reverse"; Wednesday, "How To Be Happy Though Married"; Friday, "You May Live Beyond". There will be no meeting Thursday night.

Each night the program will begin at 7:15 with a half-hour color film. The public is invited and admission is free.

The church is located at 65 E. Rincon, just off Winchester Blvd.

RAINFALL

One inch of rain falling on Washington, D.C., is equivalent to about 1.2 billion gallons of water.



FULLY AUTOMATED--- Frank C. Zalmana relaxes in his fully automated Health Queen sauna cabinet which he plans to market this year.

Zal's House of Illumination opens on Dell

A bouncy, breezy, cigar-smoking inventor-engineer named Frank C. Zalmana is one of the newest additions to the Campbell business scene. The energetic bundle of ideas is busily opening his warehouse and office at 1165 Dell Ave. under the name of Zal's House of Illumination.

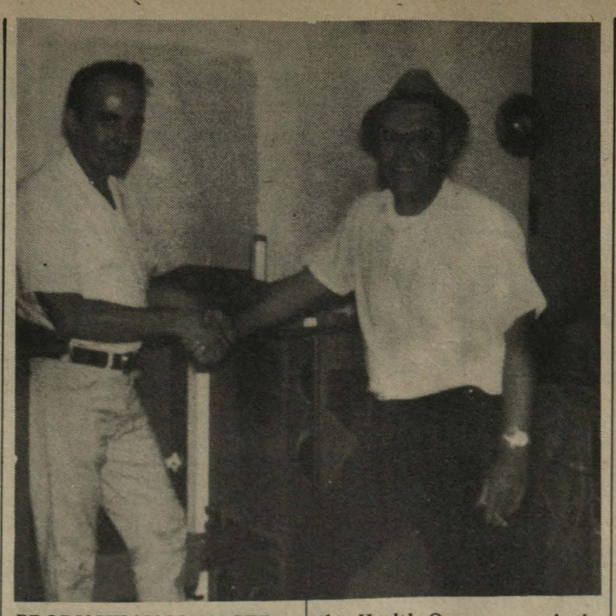
A graduate engineer in electric engineering and illumination, Zalmana has signed a franchise contract with Premeir Lighting Products. He will handle lamps, fixtures, ballasts and all lighting accessories here in Campbell and will also do lighting design and general electrical repair work as a function of the Premeir Lighting Products, Inc.

In addition, Zalmana plans to conduct research and development in the field of illumination and will also be producing his many inventions.

Three of which, he says, will be going into production this year include a dripless cup and saucer; a "Creeper-Peeper", which is an adjustable elevated head rest for the auto mechanic using a creeper to slide under cars, and his "Health-Queen" and "Saunette".

The first item is an entirely automated redwood sauna cabinet, while the Saunette is a home model which is not automated.

Zalmana reports he has 11 other patents pending which he intends to market as quickly as possible while working from the Dell Ave. address.



PRODUCTION MANAGER--- Frank C. Zalmana confers with Emil Malek, from Iran, the production manager for the Health Queen sauna bath which he hopes to market this year.

Zalmana has had a varied career starting while still in high school, but always aiming toward his ultimate career as a lighting specialist. His travels have taken him around the world while he was with the merchant marine where he started as a wiper and saw him filling many positions, including serving as chief electrician on an all-electric ship.

Car accidents injure four

Two accidents within Campbell city limits during the last week resulted in injuries to four people. Both are still under investigation, according to Campbell police officers.

Tina Ring, 1136 Steinway and Allen Kieth Perry, 1072 Roewill both were taken to the hospital, while Perry's '66 Dodge was totaled out; and a light pole, fence and yard at 2290 Winchester were damaged after the Perry car started to fishtail in the light rain falling Sunday night. A car driven by Donald R. Rose, 1540 Theresa, was also damaged in the accident.

Deniece Dressmann and Cheryl Stevenson were both hospitalized after a car driven by Robert Paul Sillas plowed into the back of a '69 Ford Maverick driven by Miss Stevenson, on Campbell Ave. by the Kirkwood Plaza Shopping Center.

New course offered at WVC

A four-week Friday night forum on parapsychology will begin at West Valley College Sept. 12. The month-long forum will deal with reincarnation, extrasensory perception and other psychic phenomena.

A similar forum at the college last spring attracted twice as many people as could be handled in the class. As in last spring's program, this year's forum will be accomplished on a first-come, first-served basis.

Four noted experts in the field of parapsychology will, on individual evenings, present their own particular views.

The forum will be held each Friday night at 8 in the West Valley College auditorium. Interested participants should register for the course at the Office of Community Services, located at 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26.

Further information may be obtained by calling that office at 379-1733, ext. 58. The course will be open only to residents of the West Valley Joint Junior College District.

COMPLETES COURSE

Private Jean-Louis V. Gardner, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley L. Gardner, 475 E. Hamilton, Campbell, recently completed an aircraft armament repair course at the Army Ordnance Center and School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

DISCREETLY MARKED--Mrs. Marilyn Caddell, 90 Railway Ave., shows how a dog may be marked for identification without ugly scarring. The tattooed number on the dog can be the owner's security number, a license number, AKC number, or whatever the owner wishes. Mrs. Caddell will be tattooing dogs Sunday at the Redwood Estates Fire Dept.

Tattoo's help identify lost stolen animals

Time was when sailors came into port and headed for the nearest tattoo artist.

Mrs. Marilyn Caddell, 90 Railway Ave., doesn't consider herself an "artist", but, of course, she doesn't tattoo sailors--just dogs.

A professional dog groomer for a number of years, Mrs. Caddell has frequently listened to heart-breaking stories about lost dogs who were never reunited with their owners because their identification tags had been lost.

As a dog groomer, she found she was much in sympathy with pet owners who felt that collars bearing tags frequently wore off neck hair or dirtied a light-colored coat, not to mention sometimes being a hazard when animals got caught by heavy brush.

Marking livestock is not a new method of identification--Egyptians in 2000 B. C. branded their cattle!

The process developed for dogs, however, Mrs. Caddell states, is far less frightening, and completely painless.

After investigating various methods, Mrs. Caddell selected for her use a process called "Perma-mark" which she will be demonstrating on Sunday, Sept. 14 at the Redwood Estates Fire Department.

Costs for tattooing is $5 per dog, with part of the proceeds going to the fire dept.

Arrangements for clinics can be made by civic organizations wishing to hold fund raising events by calling Mrs. Caddell at 379-7408.

Mrs. Caddell says the process has been sanctioned by Dr. Phillip Haims, Santa Clara County veterinarian.

Enrollment of veterans at WVC continues to increase each year

Veterans, increasingly, are deciding to pursue a college education, and there is an indication more would do so if the required number of units for benefits under the G. I. Bill were lowered.

Enrollment of veterans at West Valley College has steadily been increasing in the past three years. More than 600, in an enrollment of 8500, were in attendance last year, compared to 500 the previous year. From 800-1,000 veterans are expected when school opens Sept. 10, according to Mrs. Lois Taylor, veteran's assistance clerk at the college.

Mrs. Taylor said it is difficult to account for the large increase expected this year. However, she did say she thought even more veterans would seek a college education if the required number of units was lowered.

California Sen. Alan Cranston has introduced a bill which proposes to lower the number of required units from the present level of 14 to 12. Currently, a veteran must carry at least 14 units to receive full benefits from the G. I. Bill.

The Veteran's Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 covers any veteran who has been on active duty for 181 consecutive days, but does not include those in reserve units or Army or Air National Guardsmen.

Full-time veteran students (14 or more units) receive $130 per month for no dependents, $155 for one and $175 for two. For each additional dependent, a veteran receives $10. Those veterans taking 10-13½ units have a base pay of $95, while part-time students (7-9½ units) receive $60 per month.

Mrs. Taylor said she believes if Sen. Cranston's bill passes, requirements probably would be lowered all the way down the line, and veterans would be further encouraged to attend college, if only on a part-time basis.

Of the 601 veterans in attendance at the college last year 234 were taking 14 or more units, 32 had 13 units and 335 were enrolled for 12 units or less.

In addition to Senator Cranston's bill to lower the number of units, there is also a bill now in a Congressional committee which would raise the base rate for a single veteran from $130 to $165 per month. Other rates for veterans with dependents would also be raised accordingly.

Veterans interested in further information should contact the local Veteran's Administration Office at 161 N. First St., San Jose, 299-2605.

CCAE teachers hold workshop day Sept. 13

A full day of workshops has been scheduled for Sept. 13 from 8:30 to 3:00 for some 800 teachers of the California Council for Adult Education (CCAE), Bay Section at San Jose High School.

Fifty sections, ranging in subject matter from adult maturity to woodshop and from art to welding, including such topics as aviation ground school, cooperative nursery school, data processing, human relations, and photography are scheduled for the day.

Cooperating with CCAE in arranging the program is the local adult education department, Metropolitan Adult Education Program (MAEP) which includes Campbell, San Jose, Santa Clara, Milpitas and Eastside high school districts.

Primary purpose of the workshop is to give all teachers an opportunity to exchange ideas and materials, discuss the improvement of teaching techniques, development of better cirriculum approaches and prevention of dropouts.

MAEP officially opens its fall season the week of Sept. 15, offering some 1100 classes to area residents.

Sawyer Business College starts new unit

The 21st school of the Sawyer College of Business opened for the first time in Santa Clara county Monday. Both day and evening classes for women desiring a secretarial education will be available, according to James Comisky, director. The college, located at 4585 Stevens Creek Blvd., Santa Clara, has been built to resemble a modern office with colorful and functional surroundings.

"Sawyer has designed their educational program to assist the high school graduate, the college girl and the mature woman who wants to return to work", Comisky said. "It is our aim to bridge the gap between the classroom and a profession as an executive secretary," Comisky continued.

The school offers business students access to the newest types of office machines, equipment and business procedures in an atmosphere typical of a modern business office. Students work independently or in small groups and progress through the curriculum at their own pace.

Considerable individual assistance is provided students because of the college's policy of maintaining small classes. The student not only learns the secretarial skills but develops the ability to make independent decisions and take initiative which is so vital in her future business career.

The first Sawyer school was built in 1916 in Los Angeles and there are now 21 throughout the nation. The director, James Comisky, is a graduate of the University of San Francisco and a former marketing and sales expert with Economics Laboratories in New York.

The clinic, designed for students and teachers with some golf background, will feature rules and etiquette of the game, and will include a field trip, motion pictures and individual play.

Tools lost as pry burglar hits garages

A would-be burglar was foiled over the weekend when a skylight over the Campbell Sporting and Liquor Store at 220 E. Campbell Ave. did not prove to be the entry way to the store. The skylight was ripped off resulting in $100 damage, but nothing else was disturbed.

Winchester Body Shop, 2420 Winchester, did not fare as fortunately. After burglars pried open the rear garage door of the auto shop, they apparently backed a truck in and loaded it with selected tools valued at $2,200.

Other auto tools valued at $100 were stolen from the garage belonging to Joe P. Brundage, 332 Calado, while William Reno, 825 Inwood Dr. lost $500 worth of tools and airplane transmitters when his garage was also entered.

Trip through San Lorenzo Valley reveals beauty of redwood trees

As you travel south from San Francisco, the solid swath of urban development begins to thin out along the coast side below Pacifica. At a point opposite San Jose the wide forested valleys and mountains of the western peninsula embrace the delightful villages of Ben Lomond, Felton and Boulder Creek.

Here, too, are the tranquil and awesome redwood groves of two state parks that offer the visitor priceless shelter and that rival even the world-famed groves of Sequoia National Park and the northern coast in their beauty.

Along the lazy path which Highway 9 makes through the San Lorenzo Valley are all those things which smack of summer vacations long ago--outdoor dance pavilions, large swimming pools, golf courses whose bright green fairways are lined with tall pine and spruce and redwood.

This scenic road to Santa Cruz reveals some concession to 1969, what with a few supermarkets and modern banks in evidence, but mostly it is a summery sort of place with cabins and campfires and fishing poles and woods that invite exploring.

Approaching the San Lorenzo Valley by way of Skyline Blvd. you turn left onto Highway 9. Six miles further you come to the northern access road to Big Basin State Park, the oldest park in the state system and considered the most beautiful by many who have visited all of them. Big Basin comprises 11,553 acres and its 260 campsites are scattered among some of the finest redwood groves in California.

There are 102 new campsites open this year and, except for a few major holidays like the Fourth of July, there are generally spaces available even on weekends.

Big Basin also has picnic areas, a campfire center, a natural history museum, a supply store and lodge. The California State Automobile Assn. advises that fishing is possible in some of the creeks in the park but that it's a four-mile hike one-way to get to the spots where the fish can be taken.

At the opposite end of the valley below Felton is Henry Cowell Redwoods State Park, a perfect place to spend the day hiking, swimming in the San Lorenzo River or fishing. A walk along the Redwood Loop Trail with the park naturalist pointing out the General Grant Tree, the Cathedral Group and other points of interest is a fine experience for all members of the family.

Swimmers will also find a large natural swimming lagoon located in a park in Felton and north of town by way of the Zayante Rd. is Lock Lomond, a very beautiful lake that is open year around. It is popular for boating and trout fishing and boats may be rented at the lake.

Just out of Felton you can take a ride on the Roaring Camp and Big Tress Railroad which runs through the redwoods and passes many scenic and historic points of interest. The colorful old train allows passengers to get off at various points where they can picnic, lunch at the old Red Caboose Saloon or visit the Roaring Camp General Store which sells 1890ish things like stick candy and pot-bellied stoves. The trains run every hour during summer from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. seven days a week.

This San Lorenzo Valley was once a busy lumbering region. Over 50 saw and shingle mills operated in and around Boulder Creek towards the end of the last century. The first power sawmill in California was built on Zayante Creek in 1842. The lumber produced near Boulder Creek was sent over a V-flume from a point about seven miles north of town to the lower end of Felton.

As you drive along Highway 9 you see resorts, motels and trailer courts both along the highway and along the San Lorenzo River from Boulder Creek through Ben Lomond and Felton. Should you head from Boulder Creek towards Big Basin along Big Basin Way you'll see the beautiful fairways of the Boulder Creek Country Club golf course which is open to the public.

Ben Lomond, as you might guess, derives its name and heritage from Scotland and the townspeople are happy to preserve and develop this tie with the old country. Weatherly's Castle, a stone structure modeled after a Scottish war lord's castle, is located a few feet from Highway 9 at the north end of Ben Lomond. It features unique interior furnishings and art objects and is open weekends and holidays from noon to 6 p.m.

The San Lorenzo Valley is close to the heavily-populated cities of the Bay Area yet it is still sheltered and provides a natural playground that rivals many more distant points.

Campbell Press carriers enjoy camping trip

Fishing, hiking, swimming, eating out in the open and sleeping in the great outdoors are now part of the memories of nine happy Campbell Press carrier boys who enjoyed a four-day camping trip at Portola State Park as the prize for bringing in the greatest number of new subscriptions to The Campbell Press.

Over 500 new subscribers are now taking The Campbell Press thanks to the efforts of the boys who went out week after week soliciting new starts under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Hess, Campbell Press circulation manager.

Mrs. Hess reported that the boys were a "great bunch of kids", and all took turns with the cooking and cleaning up.

To earn the trip the nine boys each brought in 30 new customers. Two other boys, Aaron Osburg and Steve Harris also earned the trip but were unable to participate.

Feeding the raccoons by hand proved to be one of the biggest thrills of the trip when the friendly little thieves would come right up to the boys in their sleeping bags.

Enjoying the trip were Nick Kirk, Greg Harris, Tim Powers, Nick Kirk, Ron Rao, Pat Sullivan, Russ Lopez, Greg Oswald and Peter Silva. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Erlene Cleveland, Campbell Press employee.

All of the carrier boys worked in the contest and those who did not qualify for the camping trip have still earned enough credits to enjoy one day trips to Santa Cruz, skating parties or other events during the year.

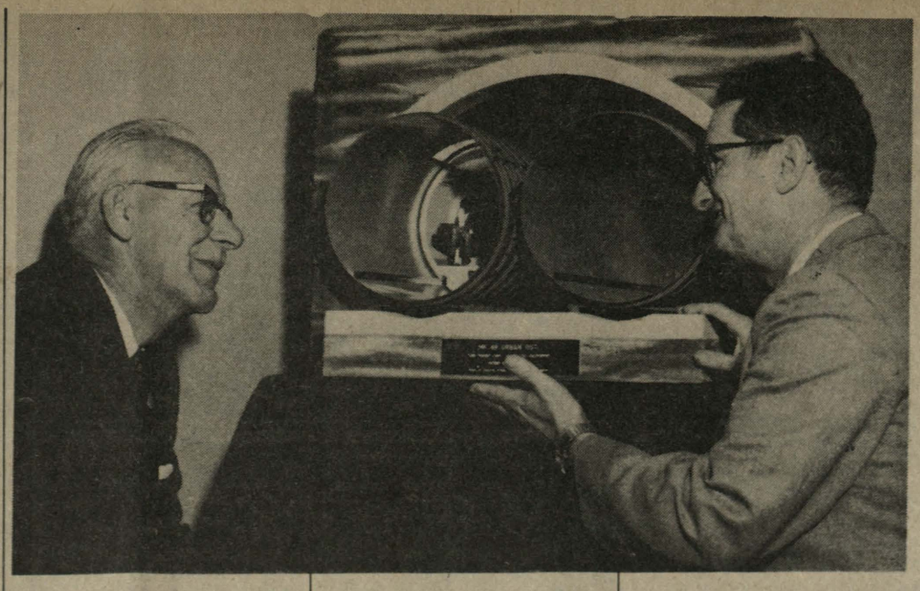
A large assortment of gourmet cooking accessories is available at "The Butter Paddle" which is staffed and operated by Eastfield Junior Auxiliary members. Mrs. Schwartz of Campbell, serves as public relations chairman.



GRAVITY-VACUUM TRANSIT---Supervisor Ralph H. Mehrkens (left) and San Jose City Councilman Joseph Colla inspect mock-up of a gravity-vacuum rapid transit tube now under development. A luncheon in September is being planned for the formal introduction of new members Mesdames Ray Dore, of Campbell, and Donald Askew, Thomas Rau, Richard Thornton, Roger Benemillis, Robert Chartrand, Joel Filios.

Golden Rule stocks new Levi supply

The Golden Rule Department Store, 394 Campbell Ave. this fall marks its 50th year of business in Campbell, according to Mrs. Sylvia Vassia. Mrs. Vassia, who took over the business May 1 following the retirement of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Goldman, had been employed as a clerk by the Goldmans for three years prior to taking over the operation.

"We are continuing with the policies established by the Goldmans", Mrs. Vassia said, "and we are happy to see so many of the Goldmans' valued customers returning again this fall for their annual back-to-school purchases".

Among the features of the store especially stressed by Goldman was a complete line of the famous Levi products. They will continue as the store's top line, Mrs. Vassia said, and will include full selections of the original Levi's, including the jeans, sta-prest, casuals, trim cuts, continentals, bell bottoms, flares and the line of full cut "Mr. Levi's" for larger men.

Mrs. Vassia is a native of South Dakota, although she has spent most of her life in the Santa Clara Valley. She succeeds a long line of successful merchandisers, beginning back in the 1920's when Alfred T. Davey came here from Galt and Soulsbyville to found Campbell's first department store in what used to be the old IOOF Hall on Campbell Avenue.

Since then, the store has been operated by Davey until 1939, by Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Rhea and later Mrs. Rhea until 1957. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anello operated the store until they sold the business to the Goldmans in 1960.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

Here's a little known fact about Sandy Koufax . . . Do you know what kind of start Sandy had when he first came to the big leagues? ...Most fans don't remember it today, but Sandy actually lost more games than he won during his early years in the majors . . . He joined the Dodgers in 1955 and between then and the end of the 1960 season, he had won a total of 36 games - but he had lost a total of 40 games! ...Nobody knew at that time that Sandy Koufax would go on to become one of the greatest pitchers of all-time.

Who was the youngest man ever to manage a big league baseball team? . . . The answer is Roger Peckinpaugh, who was only 23 when he was picked as manager of the Yankees in 1914 . . . Lou Boudreau is the second youngest manager in major league history . . . Lou was only 24 when he was named pilot of the Indians in 1942.

We've all looked at a baseball home plate hundreds of times - but most people, for some reason, miss this question ...Can you remember if the point of home plate faces the pitcher or the catcher? . . . The point faces the catcher.

A pleasant association

The difference among S & L's is the service they offer. Everything else is much the same. Colonial has a heritage of service. Our name is a reminder of the days when there were town halls and villages... and you did business with people you knew and trusted. All Colonial offices are dedicated to their communities. Most have been a part of their towns and neighborhoods for many years so the people they serve are friends, not customers...and never numbers. Colonial, you see, believes that there is at least one thing more important than the fact it pays the highest interest on insured savings paid day-in to day-out. And that's upholding its reputation for being a pleasant association.
